COMPTROLLER'S OFFICE,
TREASURY DEPARTMENT,
Annapolis, Md., Jan 5th, 1886. }

To the Honorable the General Assembly of Maryland:

I respectfully submit my Report of the financial condition of the State, giving in detail the operations of the Treasury Department for the fiscal year ending on the 30th day of September, 1885.

RECEIPTS.

The total receipts into the Treasury, from all sources, during the fiscal year amounted to $2,112,405.61, and the balance in the Treasury September 30th, 884, was $837,088.39, making the total amount in the Treasury during the fiscal year to be the sum of $2,949,494.00.

It is gratifying to note that notwithstanding business has been during the past year generally dull, the receipts into the Treasury have kept up, showing an increase of $79,325.68 when compared with the receipts of the year ending 30th September, 1884, and an increase of $135,653.10 when compared with the average receipts of the five years immediately preceding the last-mentioned year, and if you deduct from the receipts of those five years items which are no longer sources of revenue to the State, we have an increase of $236,211.70 in favor of the year just closed.

“Statement A” in the appendix to this report exhibits in detail the several sources from which the revenues have been derived.

DISBURSEMENTS.

The total disbursements during the year amounted to $2,202,086.67.

Of this aggregate, the sum of $62,018.86 was money paid for the building of two iron steamers for the Oyster Police Service, the further sum of 601,465.53 expended in the purchase of securities on account of the Sinking Funds and the further sum of $555,466.28 for interest on the State Debt, making the net ordinary expenses of the State government, inclusive of the cost of the Oyster Police Service, to be $983,106.00.

This amount is $125,344.63 less than the net ordinary expenses of the government for the year 1884 after deducting the expenses incident to the session of the Legislature, such as printing, the pay of officers and members, their per diem and mileage, and there remained in the Treasury at the close of the fiscal year 1885 a balance of $747,407.33.

“Statement B” of the appendix exhibits in detail the several items of disbursement.

ESTIMATES.

“Statement C” shows the probable receipts for the fiscal year 1886 to be $2,021,266.94, which, when realized and added to the balance in the Treasury, September 30, 1885, will make a total for the use of the State of $2,768,673.29,

“Statement D” shows in detail that the probable disbursements for the same period will amount to $1,700,970.00; which, if correct, will leave the balance of $1,067,703.29, which will enable the Treasury officers to provide for and maintain the various Sinking Funds of the State in the manner directed by the laws creating the various loans that comprise the State debt.

“Statement E” shows the condition of the Free School Fund and Sinking Funds.

FREE SCHOOL FUND.

The total receipts into the Treasury on account of the Free School Fund during the fiscal year were $70,502.08, which, with the balance, viz., $5,470.47, remaining in the Treasury to the credit of this Fund on the 30th day of September, 1884, make a total of $75,972.55 to the credit of this Fund during the year just closed.

The disbursements for the same period amount to $68,752.08, leaving a balance of $7,220.47 to the credit of said fund.

The statement gives in detail the sources from which this fund was realized and the amount each county received from the fund.

SINKING FUNDS.

To maintain the Sinking Funds is the hardest work of the Treasury Department.

First to get the money, which is not always an easy task, and second, to find the securities suitable for investment.

The Treasury officers have been kept busy during the year in search of bonds and securities in which to invest the money of the State due to these accounts.

Following the line of policy marked out in my last report, wherein I stated that it was the purpose of the Treasury officers "to make application of the surplus revenues of the State to the redemption of its matured obligations for investment in the General as well as its Special Sinking Funds and that we were forced to this policy by our inability to secure proper securities without paying exorbitant premiums," we have carried to the credit of the various Sinking Funds $312,750.00 of the Maryland Hospital bonds called in on the 1st day of January, 1885.

There was received into the Treasury during the fiscal year 1885, on account of the various Sinking Funds of the State, the sum of $601,645.02, and there was invested in the bonds of the State and of the City of Baltimore the sum of $601,465.53, leaving the sum of $179.49 standing to the credit of these Funds at the close of the Fiscal year

It is proper to state in this connection that all the Sinking Funds have not only been kept up during the current years of my official term, but the Treasury officers have been able to realize from the uncollected balances of former years, together with the $366,000.00 of B. & O. Railroad bonds, which were placed to the credit of the Sinking Funds for the redemption of the Deaf and Dumb and Maryland Hospital Loans, pursuant to Chap. 491 of the Acts of 1884, a sum more than sufficient to repair and make whole every fund for every existing loan that had not hitherto been entirely maintained, so that at the close of the fiscal year 1885, the Sinking Funds applicable to the various loans of the State were not only in their integrity but some of them were actually overflowing.

Since the close of the fiscal year, 1885, the Treasury officers, finding that they could still spare from the balance remaining in the Treasury, have further invested on account of the Sinking Funds and have carried the bonds of the State and of the City of Baltimore to the credit of these accounts to the amount of $97,030.00, making the large sum of $671,355.00 in State bonds and other available securities, that have been purchased and placed to the credit of the Sinking Fund of this State since the first day of October, 1884, making an increase in the Sinking Funds since I entered office in January, 1884, of $1,109,355.00, and making the gross amount of bonds and securities standing to the credit of these funds for the redemption of the various loans of the State to be $1,520,564.18.

The items of stock purchased on account of the Sinking Funds are given in detail in the "Statement E" above referred to.

"Statement F" gives in detail the funds and amounts that constitute the several Sinking Funds of the State, and the stock, kind and amount, held for the use of the Free School Fund.

DIVIDENDS.

The dividends from various stocks held by the State are shown in detail in "Statement G," amounting in the aggregate to the sum of $208,934.54, being about the same as the amount received last fiscal year, less the interest on the Bonds of the Baltimore & Ohio R. R. Co. transferred to the Sinking Funds.

OYSTER FUND.

The receipts on account of the Oyster Fund during the fiscal year, as shown in "Statement II" were $79,704.17, being $12,864.15 greater than for the last fiscal year.

The Disbursements for the same period amount to $127,089.56.

In this amount, it should be remembered, is included the expense of building the two iron steamers for the service above referred to; and deducting their cost from the gross disbursements leaves $65,050.70 as the net ordinary expense of the service, which sum is $14,751.47 less than the gross receipts.

These figures present for the year a very satisfactory showing; but the carrying clause of the Oyster Law having been recently declared unconstitutional by the Court, the receipts for the present year will perhaps be barely sufficient to maintain the present expensive service. Some Legislation therefore upon this subject will be necessary.

Whether it shall be by the curtailment of the Police Force, in order to decrease expenses, or the passage of some law whereby the revenue shall be increased, are questions which is in your province to determine.

There are some things, however, in connection with this subject that our past experience teaches which should not, and I am sure will not, be lost sight of. And these are: 1st. That while the State does not rely upon the Oyster Beds as a source of revenue, yet the catching of oysters not only affords employment to thousands of her citizens, but the revenue derived therefrom adds very materially to the wealth of the State and that wealth, in common with other property, contributes to its share of the public burdens. And 2d.

That the oyster beds if protected out of season are inexhaustible, as clearly shown under the workings of the present law.

If the reports which have come to this office from persons engaged in oyster catching be correct, and I have no reason to doubt them, we have to-day more oysters in our waters than we have had for years.

It therefore becomes our duty, first to protect the oyster beds, and in doing this we encourage this industry; and second, to realize by law just so much money as will be necessary to defray the expense of that protection, and thereby prevent the service from being a tax upon the Treasury.

THE STATE DEBT.

The debt of the State is shown by "Statement I" to be $10,970,363.34.

As an offset to this debt, the State holds bonds and stocks on which interest or dividends are promptly paid, amounting (with the State bonds in the sinking funds) to the sum of $4,518,799.37.

These bonds and stocks if put upon the market would bring a handsome premium upon their face value, but, deducting them, as shown by the r face, it leaves the debt of the State on the 30th day of September, 1885, to be $6,451,563.97.

As a further offset to this indebtedness of the State, we have the State's interest in the Works of Public Improvement, and a large sum due by corporations and collectors of public money. Much of this, however, possesses no value.

The debt of the State was increased during the year by exchange, under 13th Section of Article 94 of the Code of Public General Laws, to amount of $1,879.89, being the difference in exchange. (The Sterling Debt having always been computed at $1.44 4-9 per pound sterling, whereas, under the law above referred to, it is exchangeable at $4.84.)

It was also increased by the issue of the remainder of the Defence Redemption Loan to amount of $7,550.00, making a total increase during the year of $9,429.89.

But this small increase is more than compensated by the large reduction which we have been able to make by augmenting the Sinking Funds to the amount of $525,947.81, and by the redemption of the Maryland Defence Loan, amounting to the sum of $5,000.00, and making a total reduction during the fiscal year of $530,947.81, and after deducting the increase there remains a net reduction in the debt of the State during the year just closed of $521,518.92. Since the close of the fiscal year, we have further reduced the debt by the increase of the Sinking Fund before referred to by the sum of $97,030.00, and making a total reduction in the debt of the State since the 30th day of September, 1884, of the sum of $618,548.92.

A portion of the State's debt is due and will have to be provided for. The bonds authorized by the Act of 1870, Chap. 275, on account of the Chesapeake & Ohio Canal, amounting to the sum of $528,355.00 bearing interest at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum, are now due. Also, the loan authorized by the Act of 1870, Chap. 422, on account of the Deaf and Dumb Asylum, amounting to the sum of $100,000.00, bearing interest at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum, is also due.

While we have bonds of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad in the Sinking Funds applicable to the last named loan, sufficient to pay the same, yet we think, as the State annually receives interest at the rate of six per cent. on these securities, it would be better for the State to hold them, and refund at a lower rate of interest.

These loans can now be readily renewed by a loan bearing not more than  $3\frac{1}{2}$  per cent., and thus a considerable sum of money can be annually saved to the Treasury.

TO WHOM CREDIT IS DUE.

It gives me pleasure to state that to the valuable services of the late Treasurer, Hon. Barnes Compton, and to the active and energetic co-operation of the present efficient Treasurer, Hon. John S. Gittings, as well as to the faithful and intelligent discharge of their duties by the several clerks in this Department, we are greatly indebted for the excellent exhibit which this Department is able to make to you of the fiscal affairs of this State.

"Statement J" gives in detail the State's capital and credits on the 30th day of September, 1885.

PRODUCTIVE INVESTMENTS.

Those designated as productive investments amount to the sum of $3,633,085.70, which, together with the uncollected balances due from collectors of public moneys, incorporated institutions, &c., make a total sum of $5,162,758.94.

While we have collected a considerable sum from corporations and from former collectors, sheriffs, &c., and more is now in course of settlement, there yet remained unpaid at the close of the fiscal year the large sum of $1,529,673.24.

Much of this balance is worthless, but I shall not relax my efforts to realize for the State as much of these unpaid balances as can be collected.

UNPRODUCTIVE INVESTMENTS.

The unproductive investments amount to $27,723,286.94. The State in the past has been very liberal with its money and credit in giving its aid to many enterprises for the developement of the resources of the State.

THE CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO CANAL

affords a striking illustration. The $7,000,000.00 which the State originally loaned to assist in building and developing this once great public improvement, were they available now, would be sufficient together with our productive investments to relieve the State of all indebtedness and leave nearly a million to spare. And had not steam overcome difficulties which, at that time, were considered insurmountable, the State's interest in this canal would to-day be worth double the amount of money the State has expended on it. Notwithstanding the strictest economy has been practised by the present management, and the affairs of the Canal conducted upon the best business principles, I doubt, from the information which I have been able to gather, whether we have any reason to hope for a prosperous future for this great public work.

THE SUSQUEHANNA AND TIDE-WATER CANALS

on which the State has a lien by way of mortgage amounting to $1,000,000.00 in principal and $474,000.00 in interest, is a case similar in character and only differs from the other in the amount of money involved.

The mortgage on this last named Canal was, until within a few years, one of the productive investments of the State, and annually paid into the Treasury interest at the rate of six per cent.

By an Act of the General Assembly of 1884, Chapter 160, it was agreed on the part of the State to reduce the interest on this mortgage to  $4\frac{1}{2}$  per cent., on payment of the interest then in arrears by the Philadelphia and Reading Rail Road Company, the lessee of the said Susquehanna Canal, and depositing by said Railroad Company with the Pennsylvania Company, for Insurance on Lives and Granting Annuities, \$1,000,000.00 of its second series 5 per cent. consolidated mortgage bonds as collateral security for the payment henceforth semi-annually of the interest at the reduced rate.

I regret to state, that almost immediately after the passage of that act, the affairs of the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad Company became unexpectedly embarrassed, and it was unable to comply with the provisions of the act.

Proceedings are now pending, which will probably result, at an early day, in the rehabilitation of that company.

I recommend the re-enactment of the Act of 1884, Chap. 160, with such changes in its terms as the lapse of time has made necessary, in order that another opportunity be afforded to the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad Company to make proper settlement with the State of Maryland.

THE CHESAPEAKE AND DELAWARE CANAL

is another Public Work in which the State has large unproductive interests. The State's stock in this Canal amounts to $81,250,00. This stock formerly yielded to the Treasury a dividend, and I have hopes that the State's interest in the work will prove before long to be one of its Productive Investments.

THE ASSESSABLE BASIS.

The total assessable property in this State for the State levy in the year 1885, is shown in "Statement K," to be $473,425,144, and shows an increase since the levy of 1884, of $3,858,919. Still it is $5,015,884 less than it was in 1877, the year after the last assessment was made. I can but repeat what I said in my last report upon this subject: "That it must be evident to everyone who has any knowledge of the prosperity of this State, that there has been a great increase of wealth since then (1877), and that if every species of property subject to taxation was included in the list that should comprise the assessable basis the total would be increased by many millions."

Baltimore City on this point, presents a striking illustration. Its taxable basis in 1877, was $243,132,007.00. Now, after a period of eight years, during which time its citizens have invested millions in stores, dwellings and other buildings, and at least one hundred thousand persons have been added to its population, its assessable basis shows a decrease of over $11,000,000, as compared with the assessed value of its property in 1877. Some Legislation upon this subject is necessary, in order to make all the property of the State bear equally the burdens of government.

Whether it would be better to amend the present assessment law, or to enact a new one, is a question about which there may be some difference of opinion.

While the subject of taxation is a difficult one to adjust so as to suit every interest, and while there are as many different systems as there are States in the Union, there is to my mind, but one fair and equitable mode of taxation, and that is to assess all property, except churches, graveyards and wearing apparel, that represents value.

Holding these views, I think now is the time to have a new assessment and therefore recommend that you pass a law providing for the reassessment of the entire property of the State.

In this law, provision should be made for an annual assessment of personal property, otherwise in less than three years time you will find the same shrinkage in your assessable basis that we have experienced in the past. While speaking of the assessable basis I think it proper that I should call your attention to the subject of

RAILROAD TAXATION.

Table No. 5 gives the receipts into the Treasury during the fiscal year 1885 from the Tax on Gross Receipts of Railroad Companies to be $46,489.76.

When we consider the immense value of all the Railroad property in this State amounting to many millions, and that the above sum is all the State Taxes paid by the Companies named in the table for one year, and all that could be demanded of them under existing laws, it must be evident to every one who will give the matter a moment's consideration, that there are great inequalities in our Tax Laws.

In view of the fact that Railroads have improved and contributed very largely to the prosperity and wealth of our State, and particularly to our metropolis, Baltimore City, it is right that the State should treat them liberally, but before we are generous we should not forget to be just to the other property of the State.

Were the cash value of our Railroads and Railroad property invested in farms, or personal property, the State would realize a revenue therefrom, accounting at the present rate of taxation, of over a quarter million dollars.

In this matter of taxation we are far behind many of our neighboring States.

In New Jersey, Railroads pay a tribute for passing over its soil sufficient to defray the entire expense of the State government.

And Pennsylvania, though liberal towards its Railroads, collects annually from them and other corporations in the State, an amount which enables its law making power to exempt the land from all State Taxes.

With these facts before us, would it be any great hardship upon our Railroads to make them take their stand with the land and bear equally with the agricultural interests of the State the burdens of government?

This question I will leave for you to answer as you may think the interest of the State can be best subserved.

"Statement L" gives in detail the disbursements on account of the Public Schools, for the year 1885, commencing on the 1st day of October, 1884, to be $509,940.92 being $6,053.87 less than they were for the year 1884.

The receipts for the Fiscal year, 1885, on account of this Fund, were $538,994.02, being $43,152.82 more than they were for the Fiscal year, 1884.

"Table No. 1," gives the receipts from the Clerks of Courts, on account of licenses, &c., and from other sources, for the year ending on the 30th day of September, 1885, to be the sum of $542,969.88, and shows an increase over the fiscal year, 1884, of $16,183.23.

A considerable part of this increase comes from the sale of liquor licenses in Baltimore City and from the sale of licenses to dredge for oysters.

Under this head it is proper that I should make a few suggestions upon the subject of

LICENSES.

A large portion of the State's revenues is derived from licenses. Several efforts have been made in the past to tax the non-resident trader, so as to make him contribute equally with the resident trader, for the privilege of selling merchandize in this State. Every plan adopted so far has failed.

The present general license is open to evasion, and the State has not only lost considerable revenue by it in the past, and is likely to continue to do so in the future, unless some remedy is adopted, but it gives the non-resident trader an advantage over the resident traders of this State.

I hope that some plan may be suggested by which this discrimination against our merchants can be effectually remedied.

In this connection I will also call your attention to the Marriage License Tax. While it is an easy way to raise some $25,000.00 annually, and at one time was of great service to the State in its effort to raise the necessary revenue to carry on the government, yet I trust that time is now past never to return. In deference to a sentiment that is endorsed by a large portion of the people of the State that marriage should be encouraged, rather than restricted, even by the imposition of the tax of four dollars, I would suggest, that the license for marriages be reduced to the sum of fifty cents, which, together with the clerk's fee for issuing, would make a total cost of one dollar.

"Table No. 2" gives in detail the receipts into the Treasury from Registers of Wills on accounts therein stated for the fiscal year, 1885, to be $192,916.04, being $9,785.98 less than they were for the fiscal year, 1884.

TOBACCO INSPECTIONS.

"Table No 8," shows that the receipts into the Treasury during the fiscal year just closed from inspection of tobacco, amounted to $76,554.11.

It also shows that the disbursements for the same period, amounted to $71,456.47.

This sum does not include the salaries of the inspectors, but they are paid out of the State Treasury.

As the salaries of these officials amount in the aggregate to the sum of $9,000.00, the system is still a tax upon the Treasury to the amount of $3,902.36, to say nothing of the ground-rents and insurance upon the ware-houses which are annually paid by the State. If inspection of tobacco we must have, let it be self sustaining.

The gross receipts from these ware-houses is quite a round sum, and should be made to pay every expense attending the inspection, including the salaries of the inspectors.

I would, therefore, suggest the passage of a law relieving the State Treasury from every tax growing out of the inspection of tobacco.

ADDITIONAL CLERICAL FORCE.

The work of the Treasury Department is on the increase and some additional clerical force is absolutely needed.

I would suggest that an additional clerk be given to the Treasurer's office, and provision made for his salary in the appropriations which you will be called upon to make for the State government.

CONCLUSION.

Having called your attention to the principal statements and tables mentioned in this report, and made such comment on them as, in my judgment, the subject and the occasion require, I now propose to bring my remarks to a close.

In doing so, let me say, that by an economical administration of our State government I believe the people of this State can be relieved in a few years of all direct taxes, except for the support of Public Education.

With receipts aggregating annually the sum of $2,000,000.00; with expenditures, if economy is practiced, not exceeding $1,600,000.00, in non-legislative years, and a fraction over $1,700,000.00, in legislative years, it does not require much calculation to demonstrate the entire feasibility of wiping out in a short period of time every direct loan tax imposed upon the property of this State.

The putting aside even of $300,000.00 a year in the Sinking Funds of the State, and the reinvestment of the increment from year to year, as it accrues, at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum, would in the short space of ten years amount to over $4,000,000.00, a sum more than sufficient to discharge that part of the debt of this State for the ultimate payment of which special taxes are now collected from the people.

This is the promise that was made shortly before I entered upon the discharge of the duties of this Department. Two years have scarcely passed since then, and I have now the satisfaction of presenting to you an exhibit, which I believe will prove not only satisfactory to the people, and from which they will understand that we are making an earnest endeavor to make our promise good ; but also sufficient evidence to warrant me in saying that the fulfillment and realization of that promise is not only within the range of possibilities, but, with economy on the part of the Legislature, can be looked forward to with reasonable assurance.

The present easy and healthy condition of our State finances can be not only readily maintained, but it will go on improving, so long as the general prosperity of the people continues and the wealth of the State increases, if we all do our duty.

While we are at present able to fulfill the requirements of the law relating to the various Sinking Funds of the State, provide over half a million of dollars a year for the education of the people, give proper sums to charity and also to meet the expenses incident to the public service so as to give an efficient administration of public affairs, yet, after doing all this, the margin left is too small to warrant us in making any extended public improvement, or engaging in new enterprises requiring the expenditure of money, without undoing the work which we feel has been well begun, and is now progressing, so far as we can discover, to a satisfactory conclusion.

Let us, however, not deceive ourselves ; I do not propose to insure you against taxes, for taxes we must pay so long as time lasts and human governments exist. .

But with the legislation necessary to carry out the measures mentioned in this report, and with economy in every branch of the public service, I think I am safe in promising you, that the State will soon be in a far better condition financially than it has been for years.

Feeling assured that you have as much interest, and will as readily take pride in promoting the public welfare as myself, I confidently rely upon your wisdom and good judgment, and upon your services in framing and passing the necessary laws, and in enforcing that economy, which is essential to obtain the best results, for the protection of the interests of the people and the advancement of the Commonwealth.

Awaiting your orders at all times, I have the honor to be,

Very respectfully,

Your obedient servant,

J. FRANK TURNER,

Comptroller.
